“Do you have any other comments on how we can improve any aspect of the Dawson Centre’s communications?”

I think Facebook is a must to allow for a wider audience that can capture the young. Anyone under 35 will use that as the predominant form of communication
Keep up the great work
Thoroughly enjoy all the speakers such excellent knowledge and quality
Keep fighting the good fight!
I would like to know more about Christopher Dawsons work. Could you provide vignettes of his work in your emails? Perhaps you could teach us something bite-sized every time.
Doing much needed excellent work in an increasingly dangerous age.
I think I am on your newsletter thanks to Josh Martin and because I once addressed one of your gatherings. but being in Melbourne I really cannot participate directly in anything you organise.
I am only newly aware of cdc but I really like your style and content.
I’m not sure where David finds all his energy.
Keep David Daintree as a front runner
I have found it difficult in the past to donate from America.
I find the communication adequate at present. Thank you
David, I appreciate all you are doing. Prayers for your efforts. Bill M. csc
I would like to see more information on the roll of the Dawson Centre at Parish level. There is nothing worse than apathy. Decisions are being made at Government level, both State and Federal which effect us all. Opportunities to become informed and be involved in discussions are becoming increasingly more important. As Christians we need to stand our ground or be pushed into oblivion. There are not many platforms that I know of, where Christians of all denominations can come together and share information and ideas. The Dawson Centre provides this opportunity and I'd like to see this more widely understood.
It would be good if the centre could producing education material for my generation of Catholic who has been robbed of the real teaching of the faith. Maybe I don't fully understand the purpose of the Christopher Dawson Centre.
Not at present. I think we need more prayer
In the last two questions I should clarify that as a religious I do not have access to funds... I have found the view from Australia very interesting - it helps me to get a wider a view of the challenges facing the Church - and the Church seems to be more alive in Australia than it is in the UK: we have much to learn! I wish that I was able to get to some of the events you have been promoting - hence my interest in podcasts.

Dr Daintree is quite inspirational and the CD Centre is a worthy gift to the Catholic and wider communities
I'm only new to the CDC.
I had previously thought the best thing one could do with Tasmania is to seperate it from Australia and float it off in the direction of Antarctica. However, the Christopher Dawson Centre has given me second thoughts!
I have only recently become involved, so it's too early for me to make suggestions.
I would love to attend some of your functions, but they're always in the evening and I live a long way out of town. Could you possibly have the occasional lunchtime event?
Not really. Thanks for the good work you do
It is good the way it is.
Being a lady of a certain age and not involved in the mainstream day to day happenings of our country I look forward to the Dawson Centre's communications to keep me up to date. May God bless your endeavours.
doing pretty well, as it is
I believe the Dawson Centre serves an crucially important purpose at this time in providing an intellectual foundation and educational outlet for thought informed by the religious and historical vision of Christopher Dawson. Long may it flourish!
You provide a wonderful unique facility.
Keep your powder dry - and when the time comes - shoot them between they eyes. (Advice given to me by my old theology professor who saw the nonsense that was happening in the Anglican church and now happening in the Catholic Church and Australian politics.)
I enjoy reading everything that comes to me from the Dawson Centre and hope it continues for many years!
Set up a branch in Toowoomba (?)
Please get David to write a primer on Classics for contemporary students who have no education in the virtues etc.
Communications are good. I regret that thus far I have not been able to travel to Tasmania for any events. I hope to do so in future.
I really appreciate the oppportunity to hear annually excellent and informative speakers - as well as the "links" provided in Director's newsletters - and the "occasional" speakers Dr. Daintree invites.
